

Simulation adjustments for $R_B^2 = 0.6$ and moderate true microscale variation

Metric Naive / current practice $\blacktriangle$ Tier 1: measurement error $\cdots \blacksquare \cdots$ Tier 2: support adjustment $-\circ-$ True block target

The heavy black line is the naive point-support validation metric and represents current practice.